Haji, Haji, what do you see?
I see pilgrims looking at me.
Pilgrims wearing ihrams so white,
Ready for their spiritual flight.

Each step holds a lesson, we'll always treasure,
Our hearts united with immeasurable pleasure.

Haji Haji, what do you see?
I see pilgrims filled with glee.

Haji Haji, what do you see?
I see Eid al-Adha, a time of cheer.
Back home they celebrate with delight,
Wishing Eid Mubarak all day and night

Haji, Haji, what do you see?
I see the Kaaba in front of me.
It's the house of Allah, sacred and true,
Where we face each day to pray, me and you.

Haji, Haji, what do you see?
I see Safa and Marwa, in front of me.
Let's walk between them, hand in hand,
Retracing footsteps in the sand.

Haji, Haji, what do you see?
I see a pillar so tall and sturdy.
We throw our stones with all our might,,
To keep the devils out of sight!

Haji, Haji, what do you see?
I see Mina, a special place to be.

Haji, Haji, what do you see?
I see Muzdalifah, under the stars so free.
Gathering pebbles, ready and strong,
Fighting against Shaytan's wrong.

The pilgrims gather, with spirits bright,
Praying through the day and night.

Haji, Haji, what do you see?
I see Arafat where hearts are set free.

Seeking forgiveness, blessings multiplied,
On this day, our hearts purified.
